Dear Parent,

Thank you for your interest in one of our IEM Charter Schools. As you read the enclosed materials and go to our website at www.ieminc.org, you will see that our schools are truly unique! What sets IEM managed Charter Schools apart from other public schools is our commitment to parent choice. Providing optimum parent choice is the cornerstone of all of IEM's school programs.

Why are we such strong advocates for parent choice? We know that every child is different, with unique interests, abilities and learning needs. We believe that you, the parent, knows your child best! For this reason, you are the best suited to make choices about your child's education.

If you choose to take on this responsibility, our fully-credentialed Education Specialist will be there to help you every step of the way. Our teachers have a wide range of knowledge about curriculum, educational philosophies and teaching methods to meet each student's individual needs. Our professional, caring Education Specialists will help you make decisions on how best to teach your child each subject. For example, you may choose to have your child learn math using a traditional textbook, completing in-depth math projects, enrolling in an online computer class, or even form small-group classes with other students and a qualified teacher. And, our program is flexible; the methods you choose can change as your child's needs change.

As you read about our school, please keep in mind that our parents guide us. IEM Charter schools have created the classes and educational activities that our parents have requested. Our schools have grown quickly due to the passionate commitment of our parents. This "grass-roots" effort pays rich dividends for all of our students. As our numbers increase, along with the programs our parents help create, more opportunities will await future Charter school students. Our schools can be all that our parents' dream of, with IEM Charter Schools, the sky's the limit!

We wish you great success in finding the best learning environment for your child.

Sincerely,

IEM School Administration
